

My God

Storm clouds gather round me and thunder pounds into my brain.
Lightning splits the horizon, my skin is pelted by the rain.
But I have a God who loves me; Who has conquered every foe.
My faith is in Him who saves me. To Him for shelter I go.

My God keeps me from all enemies, within and without.
He shields the work He has begun and removes all fear and doubt.
He sends His angels to guard me, leaving no opening space through which evil could pierce and reach me.
He keeps me all my days.

At night, when I am resting deep in the comfort of His arms,
He sends His sentries to alert Him whenever there is threat of harm.
My God is my salvation, in no one shall I fear.
He is the Light upon my pathways; the Lamp that leads me here.

My God is the great I Am: the One who died for me.
By His stripes I am healed and by His sacrifice was made free.
He is the alpha and omega; beginning and the end.
He is my comforter and protector, my one and truest friend.

My God would never desert me or leave me all alone.
It is Him I seek in the morning mists; it is He who guides me home.
My God is the love of my life; I am the apple of His eye.
All things which He has promised, He has been faithful to supply.

My God is my Heavenly Father, it is to Him I turn when life's woes are upon me; when the fire within won't burn.
It is He who guides my footsteps, leading me ever closer still.
He lifts me up on wings of eagles; I soar high above the hill.

My heart sings with His glory, my soul cries out to only Him and in a soft, sweet voice I hear His reply within.
My God is the great Jehovah who created all we see and when the world was lost and dark, my God died for you and me.
